KANSAS CYCLONES.

Partial Reports Show Widespread Devastation by the Storm.

At Independence, Kan., April 11—South-eastern Kansas, an particularly Montgomery county, was visited by a terrible cyclone this evening at 7 o'clock, which left a path of death and destruction behind it.

This city was one of the extreme edge of the storm and suffered but little damage, but reports from surrounding country and small towns near show that destruction of property and loss of life.

Particulars cannot be obtained for the reason that the winds are all calm.

A little town of Parker, ten miles south of here, seems to have got the worst of the storm. From the most reliable information obtainable the people of that town were warned by ominous clouds which gathered just about dusk. They hurriedly tried to reach what was coming before the storm burst upon them in all its fury.

Coming from a westerly direction from Oklahoma the furious wind, which was more like a hurricane than a genuine cyclone, struck the town with irresistible force. The frightened people were given not a moment to flee to places of safety.

The work of the wind was awful. Of the business houses situated around the public square but two were left standing, the others being completely wrecked. Even private houses were swept away by the same destructive forces. Every residence in the town was damaged more or less and had of them were completely destroyed.

As shown that several persons were injured and a large number injured, but it is impossible to learn the names of the dead and injured.

Leaving Parker a scene of wind and rain, the wind swept on to the next point, leaving farm houses, barns and fences before it. Three farm houses are known to have been wrecked and it is certain that this report but a small portion of the damage done.

A TERRIBLE TORNADO.

Loss of Life and Property in Missouri Towns.

At St. Louis, Mo., April 11—A terrible tornado struck this town this evening, tearing and twisting the houses to pieces and creating widespread ruin. William War and his two children were caught in the wreck of their home and all were instantly killed. Three-fourths of the houses in the town are destroyed and many are injured. Reports from neighboring towns of Mayview and Higgins report great damage.

WIND AND RAIN.

Small Towns Wiped Out by the Fury of the Cyclone.

At St. Louis, Kan., April 11—A terrible tornado and storm visited Brown County this afternoon.

It is reported that several of the small towns in the county which cannot be reached by rail, have been practically wiped out by the fury of the cyclone.

In this city the hail broke windows by the hundreds, while building roofs and chimneys were wrecked by the wind.

During the storm, Owen Patterson of Robinson, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Major disasters received here to-night are one passed over northern Iowa this afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock. The storm passed over the State and that three towns, Willis, Everett and Pottawatomie, were left in ruins. As communication with these points is slow, it is almost impossible to estimate the loss of life or property. It seems almost certain that some lives were lost and it is feared that but few in the villages named escaped injury. The broken windows and the ruin and it is feared some prospects of a fruit crop this year.

OWA.

An Afternoon Storm that Wrecked Two Villages.

St. Paul, Minn., April 11—A fearful cyclone passed over northern Iowa this afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock. The storm passed over the State and that three towns, Willis, Everett and Pottawatomie, were left in ruins. As communication with these points is slow, it is almost impossible to estimate the loss of life or property. It seems almost certain that some lives were lost and it is feared that but few in the villages named escaped injury. The broken windows and the ruin and it is feared some prospects of a fruit crop this year.

The storm covered a wide path. The iron wagon bridge across the Sioux river was torn to pieces. Houses were uninjured or carried from their foundations and cast about. The grain elevator was torn to pieces and the wind carried the corn across the street, depositing it where it pleased. Several cars, on the street, were blown up and carried several rods. Several stone buildings were partly wrecked. A wire is down.

The Chicago, St. Paul and St. Louis road sent up a special train from Sioux City to Akron. The storm hit the Sioux valley south to Westfield. Its path was marked by corn and houses and barns. Two people, a man and his wife were at one of the houses. Their names are not yet known. Several others were hurt and injured and many horses and cattle were killed.

At Page, Neb., the storm demolished the St. Louis and North Platte road. The grain elevator and several houses, injured a woman and a boy, names unknown. The woman's condition is serious. The latest advices from Akron and Westfield are that the loss in the country will probably far exceed that amount. Mrs. Clara Page was killed at Page, Neb., and her two children were injured. Local storms are reported from many places in South Dakota.

ST. LOUIS S-S-A-R-E.

Boats Forced Adrift by a Furious Wind.

Their Fate Uncertain.

St. Louis, April 11—Thunder and lightning, rain and wind combined, this evening to form the severest storm this city has in years. No serious accidents of any nature are reported.

LATER—About 10 o'clock another storm came up, this time from the north east. The rain was not so violent as earlier in the evening and there was no hail, but the electric disturbances and the wind were terrible.

The steamer, D. L. Pike, lying at its wharf at the foot of Locust street, with its steam up and five men on board, was blown about and a no trace can be found of it, it is feared it is sunk with a load on board.

The harbor boat City of St. Louis, with a small crew aboard, was also blown from its moorings and has not been seen since.

A SECRET STRIKE.

Serious Labor Trouble Terrified by Compromise.

STORY OF THE SECRET STRIKE.

The Cause of the Strike—What the Men Wanted and What They Obtained—A Back Down for the Labor Leaders—A Day Lost.

Chicago, April 10.—The strike inaugurated at the World's Fair grounds this morning was amicably settled to-night at a meeting of the council of administration with the executive committee of the building trades council. The whole trouble it will be as far as the Exposition company is concerned, but there are, however, several contracts on the ground which must be signed before the men will return to work. There are 3000 men who will not return to work in the morning on this account. The committee will be at work early endeavoring to get these contracts to sign an agreement to put these men to work and enable the great buildings to be pushed to an early completion. The session of the two committees this evening was a long one and both sides of the trouble thoroughly discussed. Directors of the World's Fair have proved to President Russell of the Building Trades council that the Building Trades council agreed when work on the Fair was commenced, that union and non-union men should work together without discrimination. It was this question of using non-union men that was the real cause of the strike. President Russell, however, urged that in that one particular the Building Trades were wrong. The following document was then drawn up by George V. Massey and was signed by the Executive Committee of the building trades:

Whereas, in a conference held this day between the Executive Committee of the Building Trades Council and the Council of Administration of the World's Columbian Exposition it was agreed and suggested that, in the employment of workmen in the several trades represented by the said committee on work under the direct charge and supervision of the said Exposition company, discrimination shall be made against the representatives of organized labor, and

Whereas, such a violation of the fundamental principle of justice and equity in the employment of workmen is contrary to the views and purposes of the said council and its director of work, and, in order that its views and purposes may be made more effectual, and to secure a better understanding of the said council,

Resolved, That in the employment of workmen or artisans in the several trades represented by said executive committee, for the performance of work under the direct charge and supervision of the World's Columbian Exposition, to representatives of union or organized labor shall be given the same consideration with those of non-union labor, and that the workmen herein employed by said Exposition company, who have this day gone out on strike, shall not be refused employment hereafter on that account, it being the express purpose of the council that organized labor, as such, shall not be discriminated against; and

Resolved, That if there shall be paid to every artisan so employed by the Exposition company at least the minimum rate of wages prescribed for the trade in which he is employed; and

Resolved, That an authorized representative or delegate of each of said trades shall be furnished with a pass entitling him to free admission to the grounds and shall have the right to confer with the workmen of his trade at all times, provided such conference shall not materially interfere with or retard the work;

Resolved, Further, That the concessions made in and by the foregoing resolutions are made with the distinct understanding that the said council, to the said executive committee as a condition precedent to the acceptance of the said resolutions, shall continue to be operative during the whole period of the Exposition. The above preamble and resolution having been adopted and presented to the said day April 10, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock, P. M., by the Executive Committee of the Building Trades Council, do hereby accept and agree to observe the same, as witnesses our hands and the seal of the said council.

The strike was then declared off and President Russell promised that the men should return to work this morning as if nothing had happened. The delegates will be stationed outside the grounds to instruct the men to go back but not to allow the men working for those contractors who have not resigned the new contract to resume work. The meeting broke up in a very friendly manner, the delegates standing in line with President Russell and the directors of the World's Fair.
